SINGAPORE SLING

Malaysia's social set are being seduced by a wealth of upmarket events and activities across the causeway. Marketed under A Luxe Affair, they include art exhibitions, concerts, high-end fashion shows plus Andrew Lloyd Webber's magical musical, The Phantom of the Opera. And for those who can't bear to leave Malaysian shores, Singapore is coming to KL in the form of a big format concept store, TANGS, opening at The Pavilion, in the heart of our Golden Triangle in September.

CRUISE CONTROL

Gucci's current cruise collection may be in quietly but for diehard fashionistas, it's been a baying blood over two of Frida Giannini's signature shoes. Check out the teetering espadrilles, guaranteed to make Biarritz beachcombing elegant and comfortable. The caramel lambskin logo hit the mid-season look resolute tee. Even the Gucci dog, once paraded by Absolutely Fabulous Patsy Stone, makes a stylish comeback with updated leather bamboo.

COUTURE BURGER

From Balenciaga to Bill Blass and now to real estate, couture has a grip onto our daily lives, if not our credit limits. Say hello to its latest victim - burgers. At Relish of Changkat Bukit Bintang, their burgers are done to perfection, using farm-fresh, politically-correct beef and chicken as well as plenty of crisp vegetables and greens. And that's not all. The heavenly patty is accompanied by house-made, sour dough bread and delish relish, guaranteed to make lunchtime craving healthy.

IN THE PINK

Those who appreciate true luxury are giving a wink to pink thanks to the launch in Malaysia, of the delightful Dom Pérignon Rosé 1996. Only created from the best vintages, this amber-tinged bubbly is advertised via sensual photography of the elegant Eva Herzigova by legendary designer and photographer, Karl Lagerfeld. It's a wine to be savoured by the savvy. A blend of white chardonnay grapes and red pinot noir, the health conscious know a small tittle a day helps keep the doctors away.

STAMP OF INGENUITY

It is on the cards that talented Malaysian, Lee Elaine, will go far. TT fans will remember her from this column last September, when she released a groundbreaking book on ethnic musical instruments which catapulted her into the Malaysia Book of Records. The 17-year-old is promoting Visit Malaysia Year by producing a series of postcards featuring the unusual instruments. The cards, available from major hotels around town, have certainly won her TT's star entrepreneurial approval.
